DETAILED ACTION

1. Amendment filed on 8/8/03 has been received.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 9-11, 13 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Malosh (U. S. Patent no. 4,750,970) in view of Kim (U. S. Patent no. 5,861,700) and Smith et al (U. S. Patent no. 5,998,892) and Tomaselli (U. S. Patent no. 6,073,510).

Malosh discloses:

See figures 3-5 slide 132, motor 144 with shaft 148 forming a single body with a pinion 150 that engages rack 128

Malosh does not disclose the specific details of the motor. Kim teaches a motor (See figure 1) that has a shaft 11 supported by bearings mounted in the recess of the cover elements and a u shaped support element (see figures 3a, 3b with annular chamber 15). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the motor as taught by Kim in the system of Malosh in order to provide cooling to the motor enabling long service life.

Art Unit: 3683

Malosh, as modified, is relied upon as above. Malosh, as modified, does not disclose the shaft as one piece with the pinion. Tomaselli teaches forming a pinion as one piece with a shaft (see figure 1 pinion 25 shaft 22). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the pinion as one piece with the shaft in order to reduce the number of parts thus reducing costs.

Malosh, as modified, is relied upon as above. Malosh, as modified, does not disclose a transducer to determine the position of the slide. Malosh, as modified, teaches a control unit (see column 3 lines 17-25). Smith et al teaches a transducer 200 with a stem 435 attached to the rotor 430. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the transducer as taught by Smith et al in the system of Malosh, as modified, in order to accurately control the slide element.

Regarding claim 14, the examiner takes official notice that shafts can be coupled to rotors through keying.

Regarding claim 10, the selection of specific characteristics of the motor is merely a design choice and therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made.

4. Claim 12 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 9-14 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

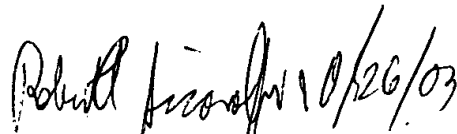

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
